

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

This is ridiculous! I thought this was the land of the free. I guess it's not a free press after all. As if it isn't scandalous enough that Americans have some of the world news coverage in the first world, the FCC is planning to water it down even further.

Why doesn't the FCC do exactly the opposite, and strengthen press diversity instead? That's what a demoncracy would do.
